Comments:

‘Dtor’ (ດោរ) as a noun can mean ‘hornet’ or ‘wasp’. Wasps and hornets often look a lot alike. This is because they are technically the same type of insect. Hornets are a larger variety of wasp, which is where the separation between the two types of insects seems to take place. (Source: <http://animals.mom.me/yellow-jacket-wasp-hornet-11241.html>). In Thai, it appears that ‘dtor’ (ດោរ) and ‘dtaen’ (ແຕន) can be used to make such a distinction between ‘hornet’ and ‘wasp’.

‘Dtor’ (ດោរ) as a verb can mean ‘build (put together)’ / renew or extend / lure / transfer or change / teach; as an adverb it can mean ‘next’; and as a preposition it can mean ‘to’ / ‘with (in relation to)’ / ‘against’.

A ‘dtor luang’ (ດោរលោង) is a Yellow Banded Wasp (Vespa Cincta).

A ‘dtor hua sua’ (ດោរគោសោ) is a Paper Wasp (Vespa Sp.) (Source: http://www.dnp.go.th/FOREMIC/NForemic/this_month/Vespa-vespa.htm).
